Movies on Campus
The Nevada Union High School Cinema presents a free screening of the 1955 Western classic, "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance." The film, directed by John Ford, stars James Stewart, John Wayne, and Lee Marvin. The screening is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. on Friday, October 10, at the high school's auditorium. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. for a pre-screening Q&A session with local film historian Tom Altman. Attendance is limited to the first 100 students who register in advance through the school's website. Students must bring a valid student ID to enter the screening area.

Art
Ludwig Ferdinand: The Fourth Dimension exhibition includes a unique collection of Art Nouveau art. Visitors will be able to view original paintings, sculptures, and textiles from the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The exhibition opens on October 1 at the university's art museum and runs through November 30.

Wallenda makes walk that killed grandfather's dream. The 18th-century spectacle. Wallenda's great-grandfather attempted the walk from the Terrace to the Giralda in 1796 but failed, falling to his death. The Wallenda family has been attempting the walk ever since, with each generation attempting to reach new heights of audacity and spectacle. This year, Wallenda's grandson will attempt the walk, with the audience invited to witness the thrilling spectacle. The walk will take place on October 11, at 7:00 p.m., with gates opening at 5:00 p.m.
