Reunion of Oregon brings back again to the 'pure and simple'

By Alan Middel-Wright

EVENT ONE is a group of string players who are also interested in the idea of bringing music back to its roots. This idea has brought together a group of people from all over the world, who are passionate about their craft. The group is led by a talented violinist, who believes that music should be accessible to everyone. The group has been rehearsing for several weeks, and they are looking forward to their first performance. They hope to share their love of music with audiences of all ages.

Student electronic music is debuted

The "Music and Me" program at Portland State University is proud to announce the debut of the student electronic music group, "Music and Me." This group is made up of students from all over the country, who are passionate about electronic music. They have been working hard to create unique and innovative pieces, and they are looking forward to sharing their work with the world. The group's first performance will take place on Saturday, March 11th, at the Oregon Convention Center. Mark your calendars and come see what these talented students have been working on!
